Please remember that Survey #2 is due on Monday, May 3rd (coming up soon)! If you plan to complete it online, aim to finish the survey in one sitting. That way, you'll be less likely to lose any progress you make. If you have any questions, contact a member of the PSC or Jenn in the office.

Indigenous Peoples 101 & Reconciliation

Indigenous peoples in Canada have called us to listen and hear their truth, to educate ourselves, and to commit to working at reconciliation between non-Indigenous and Indigenous peoples. MCC is hosting a webinar that will provide some basic understanding of Indigenous culture and the impacts of the abusive history they have endured in Canada, to help us understand the reasons we are called to reconcile with them. We will hear a guest speaker present on what reconciliation is and how we can start actively living in a way that will create a respectful future together. Click here to register for this upcoming event taking place on May 13 at 7pm.

What does peace mean to you?

For MCC, peace is more than a wish. It's our work. Peace is the foundation of all we do. We also know that peace means something different to each person.

How would you finish this sentence?

"To me, peace is ____."

In a few months, we'll collect your answers and turn them into a creative art piece that celebrates the beauty of peace in action. Submit your answer today!
